INTRODUCTION OF UGC

1.1 Preamble

The University Grants Commission (UGC) was established as an autonomous and statuary institution under the University Grants Commission Act (1993) aiming to promote, facilitate, support, and enhance the quality of higher education in the country, thereby meeting the national need of educated workforce and developing Nepali academia up to the global standards. As one of the outcomes of the political changes in the early 1990s, the UGC was instituted to address the people's aspirations for revolutionary and qualitative changes in higher education leading to the multifarious development of the nation. This statuary and autonomous institution also brought about into existence to face the challenges and problems that were historically impairing the higher education.

Until 1990, the development of higher education was highly constrained as there were only two universities: Tribhuvan University (TU, established in 1959) and Mahendra Sanskrit University (MSU, established in 1986). Both of these universities could enroll and educate only a fragment of the aspiring population. That is, the universities could cater the academic needs of a tiny section of the total population of the country. In addition, the mandatory inclusion of disadvantaged sections of the society such as females, dalits and other marginalized social groups in higher education was rather a new concept. However, after the successful political revolution and the restoration of multiparty democracy in 1990, the inclusive development of higher education has been one of the top priorities of the country ever since. It is in these contexts that the University Grants Commission (UGC) was established to promote quality higher education to every section of the society and to enhance culture of research in the country.

1.2 Functions

As a statutory and autonomous body, the UGC makes proper allocation and disbursement of grants to the universities and higher education institutions for their smooth operation and academic excellence. In regard, the UGC is also expected to define the academic standards of higher education and to ensure good rapport and coordination among the universities in the country, thereby encouraging them to cooperate, collaborate, and exchange their academic experiences.

In line with this spirit and expectation, the UGC Act (1993) envisages the University Grants Commission to carry out the following functions:

- Formulate policies for allocating the government grants to universities and higher education institutions;

- Disburse grants to universities and colleges, and make recommendations to the government for revising the provisions of grants;

- Award grants for research, scholarships, and fellowships;

- Take necessary measures to maintain the standards of higher education;

- Advise the government concerning the establishment of a new university, or an institution of higher education aiming to operate with affiliation to foreign universities/institutions;

- Make necessary arrangements for the exchange of facilities and fellowships between universities and educational institutions within and outside Nepal.

1.3 Organizational Structure

The supreme authority of UGC lies with its apex body consisting of eleven members headed by the Executive Chairman. As per the UGC Act (1993), the formation of the apex body takes place as its members and office bearers are either nominated by the government, or they act as the ex-officio members. The Executive Chairman and the Executive Member Secretary of the commission are nominated by the Council of Ministers from among the academic leaders and eminent professors upon the recommendation of the Ministry of Education. The secretaries of the Ministry of Education and Ministry of Finance and a member of National Planning Commission (Social Sector/Education Desk) are the ex-officio members. The two Vice-Chancellors are represented, usually one from Tribhuvan University and another from among the other universities of the country. Further, two distinguished professors and two prominent educationists are nominated to the apex body. The tenure of the members including the Chairman and the Member-Secretary is of four years from the date of the appointment; however, they are eligible be reappointed.

The Board Members of UGC are as follows:

In order to carry out its duties and responsibilities, the UGC had initially set up four divisions: Administration Division, Finance Division, Planning Division, and Monitoring Division. With the commencement of the Second Higher Education Project in 2007, it has further added Quality Assurance and Accreditation Division, Research Division, HEMIS Section, and Reform Unit. These divisions and units are headed by the officers of different abilities and experiences: the Administration Division is led by a Joint-Secretary Level officer, Finance Division by an Under-Secretary level Finance Controller; Research and Quality Assurance and Accreditation Division by academics of professor level. In addition to these, the UGC occassionally forms different committees and tasks-force units to undertake and accomplish various responsibilities. The Regulation of the University Grants Commission specifies the provisions of forming different committees and recruiting necessary staff members with their terms and conditions of service, or hiring service providers, or receiving services of consultants and/or experts.

The UGC has the following committees:

- University Coordination Committee

- Second Higher Education Project Steering Committee

- Quality Assurance and Accreditation Committee
- Research Evaluation Committee
- Quality Assurance and Accreditation Technical Committee
- Academic Committee

In addition these committees, several other teams, tasks force units, and special task committees have also been formed. In this regard, Reform Committee, Cluster Committee, Peer Review Team, and Theme/Task Committee, University Feasibility Study Task Committee can be mentioned. To create a systematic archive of its activities and achievements, the UGC has also formed a Publication Board, which has achieved commendable success by publishing some historically important documents, research articles, current affairs, and annual reports.

SECTION II

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF UGC

2.1   Duties and Responsibilities

To uplift the academic standards of higher education and to encourage research culture in the country, the UGC has its systematic mode of operation and functioning so that it can accomplish its duties and responsibilities. It plays instrumental role concerning the establishment of a new university; formulation of national academic policy; processing of budget allocation and grants distribution; setting up criteria, norms and standards of higher education; and providing fund for research and academic activities.

2.2   Role of UGC in Establishing a University

When the Ministry of Education (MoE) gets a formal request for establishing a new university, it seeks an expert advice of UGC on it. Consequently, the UGC forms a task committee to undertake feasibility assessment, prepare appropriate outline of the university, and develop a proposal. Upon the reporting of the task committee, the UGC forms a high-level committee of experts to undertake the study— to review documents, interact with the stakeholders, and visit the proposed university site for making an assessment of the infrastructure as well as human resource. If the committee finds the prerequisites for opening a university have been met, it suggests necessary steps to be undertaken along with a draft of the Act for the proposed university and presents it to the UGC, which subsequently submits it to the MoE. After the approval of MoE and the council of ministers, the final draft of the Act is tabled in the parliament for approval. The establishment of a new university is approved when the parliament passes the Act for the proposed university.

Likewise, concerning the request for opening an institution of higher education with affiliation to foreign universities, or institutions, the UGC presents its expert advice to the MoE; and such advice becomes one of the criteria for a final decision.

2.3   UGC as Education–Policy Advisor

The UGC also provides its expert advice to the government to bring about appropriate higher education policies for the country. Usually upon the request of MoE, the UGC forms a policy drafting committee and/or task groups that undertake extensive review of the existing national policies on education, weigh their pros-and-cons, consult and interact with the stakeholders, take account of and analyze regional and global trends. Having studied all the relevant factors, particularly national, regional, and global needs and demands, the expert committee reaches to conclusion for a most suitable academic policy for the country. In order to effectively contribute to the nation's social, political, economic and environmental development processes, the higher education policies must address the ever-increasing demands of quality education. Viewing all such aspects, the expert committee of policy makers drafts its perspective on the appropriate educational policy for the country. The draft is then submitted to the MoE for formal adoption by the government. Thus, the UGC has its significant role in the adoption of national policies on education.

2.4   Budget Allocation and Grants Distribution

The UGC also presents its advice to the government on how to allocate the national budget for the education sector. As the education-sector budgeting is coordinated by the MoE, it forms a task committee representing concerned organizations and institutions to formulate a suitable framework for allocating the budget; a representative of the UGC also partakes in such committee. In this regard, as one of higher education planning agencies of the country, the UGC provides its advice to the government on the allocation of funds for developing and enhancing educational sector of the country. Once the budget for higher education sector is allocated, it is handed over to the UGC for the systematic disbursement. Hence, the UGC has to play its role in allocating, planning, and granting the budget for higher education.

2.5   Setting Norms and Standards of Higher Education

In addition to the activities mentioned above, the UGC also sets up criteria, norms and standards of higher education in the country. In this regard, it is noteworthy that the UGC initiated a system called Quality Assurance and Accreditation (QAA) for educational institutions in 2007. For this purpose, it had formed a Quality Assurance and Accreditation Committee consisting of 17 members including the UGC Chairman, Member Secretary, QAA Division Director, representatives of professional councils, selected representatives of universities, MoE, student unions, Deans and Department Heads, and prominent professors. Now, QAA Division has been formed at the UGC and is fully functioning to accredit the quality of higher education institutions.

The UGC upon the recommendation of QAA Committee has adopted criteria and process for quality assessment and accreditation. The schemes of quality enhancement based on important criteria and indicators have been developed, and the process of QAA has been activated in selected number of campuses with the support of the Second Higher Education Project (SHEP). The process of QAA has been opened for participation of all interested and eligible institutions on voluntary participation basis. Process has already been launched to form an independent QAA Board for quality assessment and accreditation.

2.6   Grants Assistance for Research and Academic Activities

One of the responsibilities of UGC is to enhance the research culture in the country; it provides a range of grants to support the research activities of individuals and institutions. It has been providing funds for research activities of university teachers, independent researchers, and educational institutions for conducting academic seminars, workshops, and curriculum orientation programs. In addition, the UGC also has its Academic Committee of professors that provides necessary expert advice and facilitates the various quality enhancement programs run by academic institutions under the aegis of UGC.

Since 2007, the UGC initiated various schemes to support research activities of faculty members and institutions in order to link teaching and learning to the developmental needs of the nation. The funding schemes include provisions of grant support to competitively selected research projects developed by faculty members and institutions, trainings on research methodology, conducting dialogues with industry and business establishments, establishing research management cells, and development of research library, and so on. In this regard, the UGC has formed a 13 member Research Council representing various stakeholders including universities, professional researchers, and the Federation of Nepalese Chamber of Commerce and Industries. It has also established a Research Division to undertake the initiatives and develop an effective system of research support.

2.7 Publications

The UGC has started to create a systematic records of the materials related to research, higher education, education policies, and such other concerns. To disseminate the findings of research activities conducted under the aegis of UGC, it has initiated the publication of the Abstracts of Mini Research Projects in a series of volumes. The UGC has also initiated the publication of The Journal of University Grants Commission, UGC Newsletter, University Grants Commission Annual Report, and HEMIS Report.

The publication of the Abstracts of Mini Research Projects is aimed at creating a systematic preservation of the outcomes of the short-term researches under the grant assistance of UGC for the benefits of general readers and prospective new researchers. Being published in a series of volumes, the Abstracts are central points of major findings by the researchers of these projects. The UGC has already published the two volumes of the Abstracts of research activities presented in English language. The third one is in the process of being published. The UGC has also initiated to publish the abstracts of mini research projects conducted and presented in Nepali language in a series of volumes.

In a bid to add its contribution to the scholarly pursuits in the country, the UGC has started the publication of scholarly research articles in a regular journal entitled The Journal of University Grants Commission. The research articles for this journal are sought from the eminent research experts and scholars and are published to create an archive of existing knowledge and to inspire prospective researchers in the particular area of study and research.

Another regular publication of the University Grants Commission is the UGC Newsletter, which reports the activities made during every two months. The UGC Newsletter aims to inform the readers about the regular activities of UGC, and maintains an archive of the initiatives undertaken by this statuary body.

The UGC annually publishes University Grants Commission Annual Report to record and disseminate its activities throughout a year. The Report publishes the general information about the UGC's role, functioning, major activities, finances and funding, higher education projects, research activities, national vision of higher education and planning, and such other initiatives. In short, University Grants Commission Annual Report mirrors the activities conducted by the UGC.

Another regular publication of UGC is Higher Education Management Information System (HEMIS) Report, which is a database of education in the country. As it has been identified that objective information about educational concerns is a necessary factor for developing higher education policy, the UGC in collaboration with the SHEP has been publishing HEMIS data every year since 2007/08. In this regard, the UGC has placed a due emphasis on the creation of archive system. Accordingly, the Monitoring Division of the UGC has developed tools for data collection, which have been used for collecting data every year, and are proven to be very effective. After a proper and logical analysis of the collected data, they are published in a form of EMIS

Report. For this purpose, the UGC has also hired consultant technicians and experts on competitive basis to develop the HEMIS software, with which more effective management and analysis of the data can be made. These regular and other occasional publications enrich the UGC archive, and enlighten and inspire the general readers, planners, and institutions.

2.8   SHEP Implementation

In order to improve quality and relevance of higher education, the Government of Nepal, with the support of International Development Agency (IDA), and World Bank has been implementing the Second Higher Education Project (SHEP, 2007-2014). The project has two major objectives and four main components. The main objectives of the project are to (1) achieve enhanced quality, efficiency, and relevance of higher education through a set of systemic reforms, and provide incentives to some selected exemplary institutions; and (2) improve access for academically qualified students from marginalized and disadvantaged groups to higher education and higher secondary education. In addition, there are four major components of SHEP: i) making timely and appropriate reforms in higher education; ii) providing financial assistance to needy and deserving students; iii) enhancing the quality of higher secondary education; and iv) strengthening the capability of UGC system. The UGC in collaboration with TU and Student Financial Assistance Fund Development Board (SFAFDB) is responsible for implementing the components 1, 2 and 4 whereas MoE/DoE is liable to implement the component 3.

The successful implementation of SHEP is expected to deliver following results: i) enhance stakeholders' contributing participation in the reform process with the provision of matching grants; ii) provide grants on the basis of assessment of the performance; iii) select and provide financial assistance on the basis of "proxy means" to needy, poor, and disadvantaged so that they can complete their higher education; iv) provide financial support to public higher secondary schools to motivate them for better performance and to enhance their intake capacity; and v) strengthen system capability mainly through the implementation of Quality Assurance and Accreditation and HEMIS.

SECTION IV

BUDGET AND FINANCE OF UGC IN 2012/2013

4.1 Overview of Budget and Finance

One of the responsibilities of UGC is to manage the government funding to universities and community campuses. The government funding to universities are made in the form of block grants, which are of two types: operational and developmental. The operational funds for TU and NSU are estimated on the basis of the salaries and basic logistics provided to the teachers and other staff members. In the case of other universities, the funds are provided on the basis of the previous year's budget. In the case of the community campuses, a token amount of grants is provided on the basis of number of students and the programs being run. Development funds are provided on the basis of need as well as the availability of government funds.

The ninety percentage of the all the operating costs of TU and NSU is financed by the government mainly through the UGC. In the similar manner, the operating cost of LBU, which is still at its developing stage, is almost totally covered by the government grants. By contrast, the government pays only a part of the operating costs of PU and PokU in the form of grants. The government grants are also allocated for the upcoming universities for their establishment and development. Since last two years, community campuses are receiving government grants on the basis of their location, number of students, and the types and levels of the programs being run.

In the fiscal year 2012/2013, the UGC received grant assistance of Rs. 6,311,700,000 from the government while it earned Rs. 25,366,525.25 from miscellaneous sources. 5.3   Research Promotion

The promotion of the culture of research among individuals and institutions is one of the major objectives of UGC. This statuary body firmly belives that a research activity not only enhances academic and objective knowledge of an individual, but also of the concerned institution. In this effect, UGC has promulgated research support programs since its inception.

The following programs were carried out under this program in the fiscal year 2012/13:

5.3.1 Mini Research Projects

The aim of mini research projects is to orient teachers towards research by providing financial support for a period of six-months to the academics, who are up to Associate Professor Level, but without a Ph.D. degree. If the research is not completed within six months, the candidates can apply for an extension with justification up to two times.

The procedures for the grants:

- The proposals should be submitted within the stipulated deadline as mentioned in the notice.

- The proposal should be submitted in the format prescribed by UGC.

- The proposal should include recommendation from the concerned department and or campus along with an updated CV of the researcher.

- Selected candidates should sign an agreement within 45 days of the acceptance of the proposal.

- The researcher is provided with maximum Rs. 30,000, which is subject to tax deduction.

- The researcher should complete the research and furnish three spiral-bound copies of the draft report of the research work within the stipulated deadline to UGC.

- Incorporating the evaluations and suggestions received during presentation, the researcher should submit three corrected and final hard-bound copies and a CD copy of the report to UGC.

- The grant approved is to be provided in three equal installments. The first will be paid after acceptance of the proposal and submission of research plan; the second one, after submission of the draft research reports; and the final installment will be paid after the submission of final report.

- The draft and final reports must include an abstract of at least two pages.

- After submission of the draft report, Rs. 5000 will be provided for supplementing the typing and binding costs.

- The best researchers completing the research within the set deadline are conferred special awards on the anniversary day of UGC.

SECTION VI

SECOND HIGHER EDUCATION PROJECT (SHEP)
Implementation Progress

6.1 Introduction

The Second Higher Education Project (SHEP), a national higher education reform initiative supported by the International Development Agency (IDA) has been in implementation since July 2007. The project was scheduled to complete by January 15, 2014, recently it has been extended to June 30, 2014 following the request of the government of Nepal for no-cost extension of the project. The extension was crucial because the project in its initial phase of implementation faced many issues and challenges and was even setback due to the turmoil of political transition at that time, even UGC the main implementing body was rendered executiveless for almost a year in 2010-2011. However, with the daring steps taken by the new executives in the successive time the project has now attained satisfactory level of implementation. The successful implementation also need to be credited to the participating higher education institutions including the universities and their affiliated campuses.

SHEP aimed to support achievement of the national objective of developing higher education system that can produce professional human resource, with knowledge and technological base, capable of supporting economic growth and social reform towards building a prosperous, harmonious and knowledge based inclusive society.

The main objectives of SHEP are to achieve

i)   enhanced quality, efficiency and relevance of higher education through a set of systemic reforms, and incentives to selected institutions; and

ii)   improved access for academically qualified students from disadvantaged groups in (a) higher education and (b) higher secondary education.

Specifically, SHEP aimed to--

a)   achieve better quality and relevance in higher education;

b)   instill a culture that values research and development opting for sustained better professional quality and academic excellence;

c)   ensure financial sustainability of higher education institutions; and

d)   ensure equitable access of higher education to meritorious students from poor and disadvantaged section.

The Second Higher Education Project (SHEP) envisaged achieving these objectives by supporting --

- reform in higher education institutions through performance grant, incentive grant and matching grant for resource mobilization initiatives,
- improvements in the teaching and learning with strengthened research capability,
- improvements in governance, management and financial sustainability,
- establishment and operation of a student financial assistance scheme, and
- establishment of quality assurance and accreditation system and Higher Education Management Information system (HEMIS).

6.2   Project Components

The project has following four major components:

1.   Reform grants
2.   Student financial assistance
3.   Enhancing higher secondary education, and
4.   Strengthening system capacity

The UGC along with TU and SFAFDB is responsible for implementing components 1, 2, and 4. DOE is responsible for component 3. This report focuses on the progress in components 1, 2 and 4. The components have been further specified in terms of subcomponents, major specific aspects and provisions.

6.3   Provisions of Component 1: Reform Grants

This component is designed to provide financial incentives to improve the efficiency, accountability and financial sustainability of higher education institutions and to improve quality and relevance through advancement of research in the higher education. The component supports institutional initiatives towards attainment of decentralization goal established by the GON for higher education institutions and Tribhuvan University for its constituent campuses. The component also supports community campuses and other universities. This Component has provisioned three sub-components:

a)   University Grants Commission Reform Grants
b)   Advancing Research in Higher Education; and
c)   Tribhuvan University (TU) Reform Grants

It has been emphasized that the use of the grants should be to promote development of new programs in employment/economic development focused areas, and advancement of research in the higher education sub-sector.

6.4 Provisions of Component 2: Student Financial Assistance

The component provides financial assistance to the eligible higher secondary and higher education students on the basis of identification and ranking against the economic quintiles using Proxy Means Test (PMT). It will encourage the administrating financial institution for Student Loan. It has provisioned Work-study Program (WSP) designed to encourage beneficiary students to earn additional income in case the stipend amount was insufficient.

6.5 Provisions of Component 3: Higher Secondary Education

This component has been provisioned with the primary aim of supporting the GON in its effort to phase out the TU-run Proficiency Certificate Level by making community school-based higher secondary education more accessible to students who would otherwise attend the TU-run programs. Ministry of Education (MOE) through Department of Education (DOE) has provisioned support to over 575 higher secondary schools with basic grants, 592 with matching grants and 168 with performance grants to enhance their capacities.

MOE is giving priority to schools with science streams when allocating performance grants to schools. Recognizing the growing demand for higher-secondary schooling, MOE has also increased the number of schools with science stream supported from 200 to 250. Fund allocated for this component has been increased accordingly. Measures are being taken to strengthen the monitoring of this component.

6.6 Provisions of Component 4: Strengthening System Capacity

System capacity strengthening tasks include UGC System Capacity Strengthening, TU System Capacity Strengthening, SFAFDB System Capacity Strengthening and DOE system capacity development. The support provisions under components 1, 2 and 3 are expected to enhance the system capacity development of the beneficiary institutions.

Details of the component-wise tasks and provisions are discussed in the section 2.

6.7   Key Indicators

The Project has been designed to address indicator based outcomes. The following are the Key Project Indicators (KPIs):

1.   Number of institutions accredited
2.   Student pass rates in bachelors and masters levels in participating institutions
3.   Share of students enrolled in science, technology, management, and other employment/economic development focused programs in participating institutions[1]
4.   Share of enrollment from disadvantaged groups in participating institutions at (a) higher education and (b) higher secondary education levels [disaggregated by gender, Dalits and educationally disadvantaged Janajati for both (a) and (b)]

6.8   Major SHEP Achievements in Brief

Most of the project activities under the components 1, 2 and 4 have been accomplished. Studies have been commissioned to assess the impacts of reform grants, research funding, QAA implementation, as well as the implementation of institutional autonomy and decentralization, TU examination reform, and effectiveness of the market oriented new window programs launched under SHEP. Similarly, review of the SFAFDB is also being undertaken.

The following is a brief account of the achievements of SHEP implementation under UGC, TU and SFAFDB.

6.9   Institutionalization of Autonomy

Four TU constituent campuses have attained the status of autonomy with the support of SHEP reform provisions. These included Mahendra Ratna Multiple Campus, Ilam (in 2009), Dharan Technical School, Dharan (2012); Mahendra Ratna Campus, Kathmandu (2013) and Ayurved Campus, Kirtipur (2013) TU adopted autonomy regulation in 2062BS (2006). Based on the experience of its implementation in Ilam, the regulation was revised in 2068BS (AD 2011). The three other TU constituent campuses have attained autonomy following the revision of the regulation. These four autonomous institutions, in accordance with the autonomy regulation, have formed   extended   management   and   development   committees   to   take   the responsibilities and exercise the authority attained with autonomy. They have prepared extensive strategic development plans. They are receiving earmarked budget and are implementing their strategic plans also with the support of SHEP.

In the process towards autonomy, over 39 institutions have conducted extensive institutional self analysis identifying the strengths, weaknesses, issues, challenges and opportunities. This has helped additional TU constituent campuses become decentralized. So far, out of 60 TU constituent campuses 49 are decentralized, 4 of the decentralized attained autonomous.

TU has initiated measures to build confidence among the institutions towards reform action. One important measure is to declare adherence to its academic calendar.

Thirty two market oriented new window programs have been launched by 20 different institutions, faculties, central departments, and campuses. Further, several other institutions have submitted requests for support to run such new programs.

6.10 System of Performance Based Grants Provision Established

Participation of universities and their campuses have helped to institutionalize performance based grants provision. Overall 123 institutions including 3 universities, 4 autonomous and 27 decentralized TU constituent campuses and 89 community campuses are participating in the performance grants scheme. Their baselines have been set and performance progress assessed annually on the basis of 13 performance indicators identified and agreed for SHEP reform grants. The last round of performance progress analysis of all these institutions are being undertaken, 9 scheme A campuses are undergoing through 6 rounds of performance progress analysis; 10 Scheme B and 28 Scheme C, as well as the first batch of 10 TU decentralized community campuses are undergoing through 5 rounds of performance progress analysis; 42 scheme D campuses are undergoing 3rd round of progress analysis.

6.11 Strategic Planning and Compliance to Rules and Regulations

All the 123 institutions participating in the SHEP reform grants are required to and have prepared their respective strategic plans covering at least 5 years of development. For the first time in the history of higher education institutional development in Nepal such a significant number of institutions have engaged in and prepared strategic plans with the participation of the stakeholders. They also prepared procurement plans following the strategic plans complying with the procurement act and regulation of the country as well as with the World Bank guidelines. The institutions reviewed their plans annually and implemented them following their respective procurement plans.

6.12 Matching Grants for Resource Mobilization and Institutional Development

Out of 123 institutions more than 100 institutions have mobilized their stakeholders for resources generation and claimed SHEP matching grant contributions for undertaking numerous reform activities, particularly in developing infrastructures and services. The institutions are undertaking the reform activities in line with their strategic development plans using the SHEP provisions of matching grants as well as performance grants.

6.13 Institutionalized Support to Needy and Meritorious Students

The participating institutions are required to set aside 20% of the performance grants they received to create institutional student financial assistance fund. The institutions are free to manage the scholarships and fee waivers as per their institutional rules and regulations but are emphasized to ensure that the funds are made available to needy students, basically the poor, dalit, ethnic minority, and female.

Initially, the project had provisioned for participation of TU, its 6 constituent campuses that would become autonomous and 10 decentralized campuses; similarly, the three other universities KU, PU and PokU participated in the SHEP on the basis of their agreement to enter into formula based funding, and 10 community campuses were selected on the basis of national and regional selection process. The successful endeavors by the community campuses and decentralized campuses created high demand for SHEP reform participation among the rest of the other campuses. In response, the provision SHEP reform grants was expanded under different schemes covering 90 community campuses-- 9 under Scheme A, 10 under Scheme B, 28 under Scheme C and 43 under Scheme D. (One of the scheme D campuses was dropped from the support for the lack of compliance to participation criteria). With this provision, the participation thus covers all the districts in the country that have community campuses. Similarly the provision has been expanded to 27 decentralized TU constituent campuses.

6.14 Formula Based Funding for Universities

Agreeing to Formulae based funding was the main basis for participation of KU, PokU, & PU in the SHEP reform grants which is explicitly mentioned in the MOU signed between UGC and the Universities.. Accordingly, regular budget from the GON source has been arranged for the universities on the basis of the agreed formula. The universities have been receiving the formula based funding since 2011, at Bachelors, Masters and above for PU and PokU, and Masters level in the case of TU. HE policy framework has suggested formula based funding as a regular feature of public grants support to universities, autonomous campuses and community managed colleges.

6.15 Competitive Research Funding System

The research funding support is provisioned annually inviting through public announcements for submission of proposals for national level competitions. Funding support has also been provided to TU for development of TUCL as a National Research Library on the basis of the strategic development plan that it has submitted. Similarly, funding support has been provided to TU, IOST for strengthening the research labs of the central departments. IOST is now undertaking the tasks. Funding support has also been provided to the Central Department of Library Science to coordinate networking of university libraries in the country to develop a system of pooling and sharing of resources including journals, research reports, and books as well as to enhance the capacities for supporting research and professional development.

So far all the targeted provisions of supporting 303 faculty research, 41 institutional researches,80 PhD research, 303 Master and M. Phil. thesis have been accomplished. Similarly 50 institutions are supported for development of research management cells, based on their illustrating success and subsequent demand, the provision has been increased for further 22 institutions. All these support are provided to individuals and institutions selected on the basis of national competitions.

Fifty percent of the institutional supports are provisioned for the institutions outside of Kathmandu Valley. Research funding support was also extended to conduct 56 research methodology training, each catering to more than 30 aspiring university/Campus teachers. Similarly supports were provided to 24 institutions to conduct industry-academia dialogue and 28 institutions to conduct colloquium on the culture of inquiry. More than 5000 faculty members/teachers and research students have had opportunity to participate in the different SHEP supported research activities, training, workshops and research presentation sessions involving the researchers and the experts in subject area clusters. The research and related activities emphasized on the country needs, issues, and challenges of social and economic development as well as the needs and opportunities of interfacing research with teaching and learning activities.

The UGC has conducted orientation programs for all the recipients of the research support grants award. Desk monitoring and follow up of all the research supports as well as field based monitoring and evaluation of the supported activities have been conducted. The articles published by the SHEP Research support award recipients in indexed/refereed journals with ISI impact factor as well as those published in other national and international professional journals have been tracked and are found ever increasing.

6.16 Student Financial Assistance

Student financial assistance fund has been established under a national Student Financial Assistance Fund Development Board (SFAFDB) for supporting poor and disadvantaged students including girls, janajatis, and dalits. The system of identification of poorest ranked and academically eligible students using proxy means test (PMT) and providing them scholarship support thru a bank working as fund administrator has now been established. The bank supports the system e-banking facility. Overall, the system has successfully provisioned scholarships for 5 cohorts of the Higher Secondary level and Bachelor's level students. The SFAFDB conducts scoring of PMT applications forms of students for poverty ranking and works with the Office of the Controller of Examinations (OCE) and Higher Secondary Education Board (HSEB) to check the academic eligibility of the students based on their examination results. More than 14000 disadvantaged students have benefitted from the system.

SFAEDB has formed a Fund Raising Committee (FRC) to expand the fund and financially sustain the system. It has formed a Work Study Committee (WSC) to help needy students get some supplementary earning by part time working while studying. In order to ensure more effective and efficient implementation of the SFA plan, SFAFDB has developed a communication strategy with the use of Information Booklet, a website, automated voice as well SMS telephone response, and internet access to information regarding PMT score and final selection result.

6.17 Quality Assurance and Accreditation

The development of QAA system continued to progress; the QAA guidelines and the roster of the peer reviewers are reviewed regularly. Public calls are made to the interested eligible institutions to submit LOI for QAA participation. Further, the UGC has renewed its memorandum of cooperation with National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC), India for its technical and collaborative support in the development and implementation of QAA in Nepal. The UGC is a member of Asia Pacific Quality Network (APQN) for Higher Education and International Network for Quality Assurance Agencies in Higher Education (INQAAHE) and has extended relation with other international organizations such as Australian Universities

Quality Agency (AUQA) and Council of Higher Education for Accreditation (CHEA) of higher education institutions, USA. Eight community campuses (Scheme A) selected from national and regional level competition for participation in the SHEP Reform Grants participated in the piloting have been accredited.

Many institutions have now participated in QAA and are undertaking self assessments. Some have even completed cycle undergoing peer review. Kathmandu University School of Science and School of Engineering are accredited. Similarly, Adikavi Bhanubhakta Mutliple Campus, Tanahun, selected under scheme C and Tikapur Multiple Campus selected under Scheme B are also accredited. An autonomous institution, Mahendra Ratna Multiple Campus, Ilam has completed its QAA cycle. Moreover, 6 institutions are in the process of peer review. Many HEIs have submitted draft report and are revising the SSRs. Eligible institutions have been provided orientation and technical support for participation and are in the process of undertaking self assessment. Process for formation of an autonomous National QAA Board is on the process. Draft of the Regulation has been prepared and already submitted to MOE on April 4, 2011 (2067/12/21) for necessary action.

6.18 Higher Education Management Information System (HEMIS)

HEMIS for higher education is on the progress with accomplishment of consolidating the system of routine data collection from higher education institutions. The UGC Annual Report has been prepared on annual basis for publication and circulation. The UGC has already published the 5th issue of the Annual HEMIS Report. The sixth issue final draft has been prepared and on the process of publication. The UGC has been, on annual routine basis, contributing data for higher education statistics of the Ministry of Education.

The UGC has prepared its EMIS with comprehensive software which has been launched on website (http://ugc.nitc.gov.np) for piloting purpose. The piloting is taking place in 7 selected institutions (5 TU affiliated campuses, IOE and Pokhara University). The UGC is currently undertaking collaborative work with the universities and other higher education institutions in this regard.

TU is also developing a comprehensive software based EMIS consisting of modules for exams system, teacher and staff record, financial management, student records, overall planning and monitoring. Framework for a dynamic website has been prepared and launched which support posting of data forms and collection of the data for progress monitoring and calculation of performance grants. The performance progress reports are prepared annually.

6.19 Higher Education Policy Framework

A comprehensive national higher education policy framework draft is being prepared and presented in the National consultation workshop for finalization. The draft is being finalized based on the feed backs from the consultation and scheduled for submission to MOE for government endorsement.

The UGC has undertaken higher education policy formulation initiatives through a participatory approach for which it has formed a 22-member policy committee represented by various stakeholders, five task groups to identify the issues and generate policy suggestions to address five thematic areas identified including: 1) redirecting thrust for development and innovation in higher education; 2) establishment and strengthening universities/higher education institutions; 3) regulating and monitoring foreign affiliated institutions in Nepal; 4) quality assurance in higher education; and 5) financing in higher education. The thematic reports are consolidated by a core committee of the thematic group coordinators, UGC Chairman and the Member Secretary.

The discussion papers prepared by the thematic groups were presented in the consultation seminars held for the policy level stakeholders (Current and past ministers, NPC members, VCs, Registrars and Rectors, UGC members, members of academic committees, etc), and in five development regions for feedback from different stakeholders including higher education institutions, local government bodies, industry and business communities, employers, students, teachers, and administrators, local leaders, educationists, etc. Further consultations were held with teacher, student and staff unions. Earlier, UGC had announced the initiatives and called for feedback and suggestions from people in general through national dailies and through the UGC website.

6.20 Overall Development of Higher Education System

Procurement system has been enhanced with necessary support to processes based on Procurement Act and Regulation as well as the WB guidelines. Annual field-based follow-up and progress monitoring are implemented regularly with schedules.

Systematic reform of Financial Management Division is further geared up. Computerized Financial Management System has been prepared and installed. Similarly, internal audit, settlement of audit compliance as well as overall capacity development of procurement, financial management, planning and program development, monitoring and evaluation have been initiated. Because of the vigorous efforts, reform activities have increased and grants disbursement improved substantially since last fiscal year despite the many challenges and hurdles.

6.21 Way Forward

Since SHEP is nearing its completion, the project activities focused on three tasks -- clearing of the remaining project implementation activities, consolidation of system development, and institutional reform. Emphasis is on systemic absorption of the outcomes of the project. The first two tasks are being accomplished as per annual plan. The third task is taken as a challenge in view of the fact that its accomplishment required government decision for system reform including regular operation and management with additional personnel, activities and capacity development.

Learning from the past, coordination efforts have been intensified focusing on the challenges of solving systemic issues such as developing integrated EMIS, inducting QAA system and coordinating performance based progress monitoring. UGC and TU have initiated development of computerized comprehensive data base systems. UGC has consolidated the system of annual EMIS report publication and dissemination and get feedback; developing a culture of data use is another aspect that the project has set out. Data reliability, accessibility, and timely availability are important part for which UGC is now piloting computer based data system. The web based software for EMIS has been prepared and piloted. The next reform agenda should be to ensure that all higher education institutions are participating in the system.

Performance progress assessment based on verifiable EMIS data has become regular feature, the report is submitted to UGC on annual basis for performance grants. Resource mobilization for matching grants has intensified interaction and mobilization of stakeholders thereby increasing their participation in institutionsl reform and development. Issues however remain, the institutions need further strengthening of their capacity to be able to comply with the rules and regulations, particularly their EMIS need to be strengthened to ensure verifiable data and timely reporting.

Research funding support envisaged two important aspects -- to enhance research activities and to develop robust system of research funding. Development of research capacity and inculcating research culture are the main goals of SHEP research funding support to institutions, faculty members and students. In this line, the UGC has mobilized subject area clusters committees, evaluation committee and expert pool. Publication of the abstracts of the researches supported by the UGC, and journal of research articles are other important steps taken in this line. Although SHEP provisions have brought some significant impact in terms of participation, activities, and outcomes, the efforts need to be continued and enhanced to achieve sustainable system of robust research funding; establish linkages of research with teaching, learning and curriculum reform; interface academic activities with national development needs and priorities.

The scheme of student financial assistance has been gradually established as a credible system of identifying needy students using proxy means test and bringing support through a transparent and traceable funding mechanism involving SFA, the system of DEOs, and a financial institution (RBB). The system needs to be enhanced and made sustainable. Resource mobilization/generation remains to be developed, more effective and reasonable ways and means of support including work study program and student loan system need to be developed.

The QAA system in UGC has now established a set of criteria, benchmark, assessment tools, modality, QAAC as the governing body, technical committee, and roster of peer reviewers. It is now moving further to strengthen the linkages with APQN and NAAC to improve the system. The system is undertaking the tasks of Assessment and Accreditation including follow-up activities covering the remaining campuses participating in QAA. There are now 103 institutions that are participating in the system—12 accredited, additional 1 has completed the QAA cycle and peer review teams are reviewing the reports of 5 institutions, others are at different stages of SSR preparations. In view of increasing demand as well as diversity in participation it is important that an autonomous QAA Board that has already been envisioned and necessary regulation draft prepared and submitted to MOE be endorsed soon.

In order to analyze and reflect on the issues, challenges, strengths and weaknesses of SHEP implementation and to draw lines for new courses of way forward, UGC has initiated to undertaking impact studies of the major components of the project – impact studies of the reform grant schemes including incentives, matching and performance grants; research funding; student financial assistance; and quality assurance and accreditation. TU has similarly initiated impact studies on Autonomy, Decentralization, window new programs, and examination system. It has also undertaken trends of higher education development in the country. Impact study of student financial assistance has also been initiated.

Drafting of higher education policy framework has been accomplished in a participatory way drawing feedback from stakeholders including current as well as past ministers, NPC members, VCs, Registrars and Rectors, UGC members, members of academic committees, at the central level, as well as other different stakeholders such as educational institutions, local government bodies, industry and business communities, employers, students, teachers, and administrators, local leaders, educationists, etc. Consultation seminars were held in all five development regions of the country. Consultation seminar was also held for the unions/organizations of university teachers, students, administrative staff, women, ethnic groups, dalits, madhesis and political parties. The final draft is scheduled for submission to MOE for necessary action for endorsement. The next step forward is therefore to prepare and national programs to ensure implementation of the policy.

6.22 Proposals for Higher Education Development and Reform

The UGC has duly initiated the process of preparing a comprehensive national program for the development and reform in HE in line with the HE policy framework draft that it has prepared. The national program will also take into account the current issues and challenges of HE in the country, national needs and priorities. The program will be based on the experiences and lessons learned from SHEP, it will include TU comprehensive proposal for its long term development and strategic reform and SFAFDB strategic plan for sustainable development. Teams of experts are working for the preparation of the program proposals.

7.4 Monitoring Research Management Cells (RMCs)

The UGC conducted the monitoring visits to RMCs of different nineteen higher education institutions from June 2 to July 14, 2012. The main objective of the monitoring visit was to assess whether the expected outcomes of RMCs had been achieved or not. The monitoring was focused on observation of operational modality, physical facilities and research activities of RMCs as well as fund and budget allocation for their functioning.

In the first phase, the team consisting of experts observed the RMCs at the School of Education, KU; Tikapur Multiple Campus, Kailali; CNAS, TU; Faculty of Education, Dean's Office, TU; Pulchowk Engineering Campus, Pulchowk; Central Department of Botany, TU; Nepal Sanskrit University, Basantapur; and Khwopa Engineering College, Bhaktapur. These institutions had been selected for the establishment of RMCs in the fiscal year 2065/66 (2008/09). Likewise, in the second phase, the monitoring team observed Bal Kumari College, Chitwan; KU Teaching Hospital, Dhulikhel; Central Department of Geography, TU; Public Youth Campus, Kathmandu; Central Department of Microbiology, TU; Central Department of Management, TU; Baneshwor Campus, Baneshwor; Post Graduate Campus, Biratnagar; Dhulagiri Multiple Campus, Baglung; Central Department of Education, TU; and Mahendra Morang Aadharsa Campus, Biratnagar were monitored. These institutions had been selected for the establishment of RMCs in the fiscal year 2066/67 (2009/10).

7.5 SHEP Monitoring Follow-up

Monitoring and follow up are important parts of Second Higher Education Project (SHEP) to ensure effective implementation of the project activities and efficient utility of the grants. The project implementation progress is monitored through the following arrangements: a) Governance Accountability Action Plan (GAAP); b) trimester progress report; c) annual joint reviews by MOE, WB, NPC, MOF, and other implementing bodies; d) mid-term review; and e) project evaluation. In addition to these provisions, field based annual monitoring has also been started from this year to make it more effective and useful. In 2011/12, the field-based monitoring had been planned in six clusters: Eastern Region, Middle Region, Western Region (consisting of two clusters: one in Terai and another in hill region); Midwestern Region, and Far-Western Region.

The monitoring follow-up programs were undertaken on different dates in different regions: the Eastern Region—26-27 January 2012, Far-Western Region—2-3 February 2012, Midwestern Region—19-20 February 2012, Western-Terai Region—27-28 March 2012, and Mid Region—25-26 April 2012.

The field monitoring was conducted by visiting each of the campuses receiving grant assistance and organizing a workshop in the regional cluster. The monitoring team visited the campuses to observe the implementation progress of their respective SSRs utilizing the reform grants, their procurement and financial procedures, and documentation and record keeping systems. The workshops were organized to provide interactive feedback and technical support to address the problems faced by the institutions and discuss the way-outs.

The monitoring visits were made to twelve campuses in the three regions. Thirty-two community campuses were selected for the SHEP reform grants from three Regions (9+12+11). In the Far-Western Region, twelve campuses from various districts participated in the workshops.

The monitoring visits and the workshops indicated that the campuses needed to improve their database system including filing, processing and reporting. For most of the campuses, the compliance to procurement requirements of the project was felt a difficult experience because such practices are new to them.

The purpose of the field based monitoring was also to assess the improvements made by the participating campuses in terms of their performance progress in terms of following performance indicators:

- quality assurance and accreditation,
- student tracer study and employment status,

- cost recovery and financial sustainability,
- enrolment expansion, pass percentage,
- addition of new programs,
- teachers' involvement in research and publication,
- gender equity, and
- increased participation of girls, dalits, and the student from disadvantaged groups.

In the workshops, the campuses prioritized their reform initiatives for the improvements of infrastructure – classroom; library, toilet; canteen, sports facilities – with emphasis on library enhancement, computer service, and internet access. Similarly, the campuses realized the need for lesson planning, student-and-teacher profile, student-evaluation and result-analysis, performance diagnosis and remedial programs. The campuses also realized the need for the management of faculties by setting up subject-wise departments and operating the campuses with their own academic calendar in line with the calendar of the affiliating university.

In short, the field monitoring and technical support have helped the UGC to better understand the implementation situation and it helped the campuses to critically reflect on the progress and chart out the future course of action to address the problems in order to achieve better performance.

7.6   Regular Monitoring of Reform Activities Initiated Under SHEP

The institutional reform activities initiated with the grant assistance from SHEP are monitored regularly through desk follow-up and field observation. The desk monitoring is conducted regularly by collecting data using performance progress forms that can be downloaded from www.ugcnepal.edu.np or collected from the UGC office. The collection of data is updated annually by using the forms with the system indicators. All the universities are required to submit their annual data and progress reports to the UGC. In the second trimester of the current fiscal year, follow-up and monitoring visits were made to the three development regions: western, far-west and mid-western. The monitoring team for far western region was led by Prof. Santosh Poudel and accompanied by Dr. Indu Acharya (associate professor), Ms. Ojaswi (engineer), Mr. Jiwan Koju (procurement officer) and Mr. Kapil Risal (reform grant officer).

The monitoring team for mid-western region was led by the then UGC Chairperson Prof. Ganesh Man Gurung and was accompanied by Mr. Narayan Bhandary (public relation officer), Mr. Dipesh Sigh (reform grant officer), Mr. Dulraj Chimariya (monitoring officer), and Mr. Dhana Krishna Maharjan (accountant).

The follow-up and monitoring team for far-western region was led by Prof. Mahendra Singh (Member of UGC), and accompanied by Mr. Ramkaji Bhomi (procurement specialist), Mr. Dipesh Singh (reform grant officer), Mr. Laxman Khatiwada (account) and Mr. Yakami (engineer). All the three monitoring visits pointed out in their visit reports that the campus managements were sincerely implementing the activities and were putting their utmost efforts for the development of campuses. However, the monitoring teams had also found that there were some problems related to the procurement regulation, records keeping, EMIS based decisions, and establishment and maintaining systems. The follow-up monitoring team made particular assessments of each campus, and provided suggestions and technical supports particularly in the development of EMIS, filing, record keeping and procurement procedures.

SECTION VIII

HIGHER EDUCATION POLICY INITIATIVES

8.1   Background

As a part of its national responsibility, the UGC has been finalizing a policy document for higher education. It had formed five thematic task committees each comprising of five professionals coordinated by senior academician for formulating a policy framework in higher education. A coordination committee was formed under the UGC Chairman along with the Member Secretary and the five thematic coordinators to synchronize the task group activities and to prepare the synthesized policy framework draft.

The first collective meeting of all the thematic task committees took place on 19th August 2012 to review the tasks and prepare strategies for way forward. The task groups worked independently preparing their approach papers in the coordinated outline, reviewing related documents and drafting the discussion papers. The UGC had earlier announced the initiatives and called for feedbacks and suggestions from people in general through national dailies and through the UGC website. A series of consultations with the stakeholders were made.

Because of the growing awareness, concerns, and awareness of people there has been a rapid expansion of higher education institutions and programs in Nepal, particularly since 1990. Over the past 30 years, the enrolment in higher education has increased by over 10 fold. The growth continues at over 11% in enrolment and about 14% in the institutional number. National commissions were formed to assess the situations and recommend for new way forward. National Planning Commission provided directive statements in its development plans and the Ministry of Education along with the UGC played facilitating as well as regulating role.

However, it has been felt necessary since long time that such initiatives are inadequate to address the aspirations and efforts of the Nepali communities and people who basically initiated and contributed to the development of higher education in the country. The demand is for a comprehensive policy framework that is credible, owned and well respected by all stakeholders. In this line, the UGC initiated a broad-based participatory approach towards formulating a policy framework. For this it formed a 22-member committee represented by various stakeholders under the UGC Chairman for taking necessary steps. The committee listed five crucial areas of policy concerns and suggested to form task groups to prepare theme papers for extensive discussions/interaction with all stakeholders to get feedback and prepare draft policy papers. The thematic policy areas were as follows:

1. Redirecting thrust for development and innovation in higher education: National priorities; strategy for reform in governance, organization structure, operation and management of higher education in the country (MOE, UGC, Universities, Colleges)

2. Establishment and strengthening Universities/Higher Education Institutions: Open learning, distance learning and continuing education; norms for establishment of new universities and institutions – Locations; Programs; Standard requirements; Regulating affiliations; Effectiveness, efficiency and sustainability; Operation management, development and monitoring.

3. Regulating and monitoring foreign affiliated institutions in Nepal: affiliation framework and monitoring system; norms, standards; priority, and protocol

4. Quality assurance in higher education: standards, norms and monitoring; Quality Assurance and Accreditation System; ensuring curriculum relevance, credibility of student examination; developing a system of course equivalence, mutual recognition, and credit transfer.

5. Financing in higher education: Aligning public funding in higher education to national priorities; performance based grants; formula based funding; fiscal norms, regulating public and private financing; management effectiveness, efficiency, and sustainability.

8.2   Higher Education Policy Initiatives: Regional Consultation Seminars

The UGC has been finalizing the draft of higher education policy document. In order that the policy framework is comprehensive, credible, owned and well respected by all stakeholders, their participation in policy formulation is crucial. With this point in view, the UGC policy committee emphasized on wider participation of stakeholders in policy formulation process for higher education. Thus, a 22-member policy committee represented by various stakeholders was formed under the UGC Chairman for taking necessary steps. The committee listed five crucial areas of policy concerns and formed five thematic task groups each consisting of five experts relevant to the concerned areas and coordinated by a senior expert to draft theme based policy documents. The thematic areas identified included: 1) redirecting thrust for development and innovation in higher education; 2) establishment and strengthening universities/higher education institutions; 3) regulating and monitoring foreign affiliated institutions in Nepal; 4) quality assurance in higher education; and 5) financing in higher education.

Thematic tasks groups are undertaking the tasks of reviewing relevant documents, preparing discussion papers and conducting consultation, interaction, and drafting of the policy which is reported to coordination committee for harmonization. Consultative seminars were held at the central level as well as in five development regions for interaction and feedback from the stakeholders including concerned government organizations mainly MOE, NPC, MOF, universities, campuses, teachers, students, community, employers, political parties, and so on. Policy draft is being finalized by incorporating the inputs and suggestions generated from the consultations. A national workshop will be held to finalize the draft. The UGC will finalize the draft and recommend it to MOE for government endorsement.

8.3   Policy Level Consultation Seminar

The first consultative seminar was held in Kathmandu on February 10, 2013 with the for policy level stakeholders that included all current as well as past ministers of education, national planning commission members responsible for education desk, the UGC chairmen, member secretaries, and the UGC board members, vice chancellors, rectors and registrars, the MOE secretaries, and prominent educationists.

8.3.1   Some Highlights of the Consultation Seminar

The thrust for redirection is necessary in view of the fact that current trends of higher education development in the country do not follow national issues and development priorities. The institutions of higher education are developed without a guiding national strategy or even a regulatory frame. It was thus felt necessary for reform in governance, organization structure, operation and management of higher education in the country including MOE, UGC, Universities, and Colleges.

There is still a need for setting norms for establishment of new universities and institutions including their locations and the programs they run. Open learning, distance learning and continuing education are in huge demand and yet the country still needs clear policy vision and norms to start such institution. As Nepal is already a member of WTO it is obliged to let foreign institutions of higher education opening up their colleges or affiliate Nepali institutions wanting to run their programs. Besides, there has been an accelerated pace of establishing new institutions of higher education affiliating to the different universities in the country by private entrepreneurs as well as by communities. The consultation seminar discussion also focused on the issues arising out of the current situation where there is still a lack of clear policy and affiliation framework as well as monitoring system capacity. There is still a need to set clear norms, standards, priority, and protocol for regulating affiliated institution. The concerns of quality higher education relates to lack of a system to ensure that institutions meet norms and standards of good governance, teacher qualification, curriculum and teaching and learning practices, infrastructures and learning resources, student counseling and support, and research and development activities. In the current situation in the country most of the universities and their colleges face the challenges of keeping up with academic calendar, traditional curriculum, ritualistic teaching practices, and student examinations. The situation has adverse implications on curriculum relevance, credibility of student examination, course equivalence, mutual recognition, and credit transfer. Given the circumstances and the issues it is strongly felt necessary to align public funding in higher education to national priorities, establish performance based grants with formula based funding system. Fiscal norms are a must for regulating public and private financing with focus on management effectiveness, efficiency, and sustainability.

8.4   Regional Seminar in Western Region (Pokhara)

Based on the comments and suggestions from the policy level consultative seminar the thematic papers are revised and modalities of regional level consultations set. The first regional level consultation seminar was held in Pokhara, Western Development Region on 26 February 2013 at Prithvi Narayan Multiple Campus. The seminar was participated by the chairpersons of the campus management committees, campus chiefs, senior professors, teacher union, student union, local leaders, representatives of political parties, business and industrial communities, local government offices including DDC, RED, DEO, CDO, LDO etc. In total the seminar was attended by about 150 people.

8.4.1 Highlights of the Regional Consultation Seminar

One of the important issues raised by most of the stakeholders is the commitment of the government, UGC, and universities in implementation of the policy provisions sincerely and dedicatedly. The concern was shown that government should clearly explicate its commitments and expectations from different stakeholders. The consultation discussion emphasized on the need for the development of higher education in the areas of science and technology and employment oriented studies. The policy should streamline establishment of new institutions and development of programs to address such need. Access to higher education in an equitable way, particularly ensuring that poor and disadvantaged students, was emphasized with demand that there should be a system and provisions to regulate student fee, diversify resource mobilization, and support the poor and needy students. The substandard quality of higher education in Nepal is pointed out as a major concern, particularly relating to poor academic environment in the universities and campuses, which are marred by frequent strikes (bandh) by students and staffs, and other organizations, thereby lowering credibility of student examination, non compliance to academic calendar often stretching the program period and delaying exam results by several months In addition, curriculum and classroom practices do not effectively impart the expected knowledge and skills to the students. All the stakeholders including the students and parents are of the opinion that there should be an effective system of quality assurance and accreditation to maintain the predefined norms and standards. The stakeholders also pointed out that additional cost sharing would be justifiable if the improvement of quality is ensured. The stakeholders opined that the government and UGC should develop an effective performance monitoring system and that higher education institutions should be categorized and that government funding should be provisioned on the basis of the performance. The other important concern relates to the political issues and party politics encroaching into the universities and campuses through their affiliated teacher and student unions as well as individual and groups in the universities and campuses linking their own interests to activities of political parties. There was unanimous demand that the universities and campuses be freed from such political quagmire.

8.5   Regional Consultations in Other Regions

The consultation seminars were held with different stakeholders in Kathmandu as well as in all five development regions with the purpose of connecting the process of formulating a framework of higher education policy with the stakeholders from different parts of the country so that the policy framework is comprehensive, credible, owned and well respected by all stakeholders. As per suggestion of the 23-member policy committee chaired by Prof. Ganeshman Gurung who was also the Chairman of UGC, the policy framework preparation focused on five themes: 1) "Redirecting thrust for development and innovation in higher education"; 2) "Establishment and strengthening universities/higher education institutions"; 3) "Regulating and monitoring foreign affiliated institutions in Nepal"; 4) "Quality assurance in higher education"; and 5) "Financing in higher education". Five task groups each consisting of 5 professionals were formed to prepare discussion papers to get feedback and suggestions.

The consultative seminar with the policy level stakeholders was held on 10 February 2013 and the first regional consultative seminar was held in Pokhara (Western region) on 26 February. These two consultations provided inspiring and motivating inputs for further interactions. Further regional consultations were held in Dhangadhi (Far west region) and Nepalgunj (Mid west region) on March 17 and 18, in Biratnagar (Eastern region) on April 12 and in Makwanpur (Central region) on May 8. In Dhangadhi it was held in a local training center facility, in Nepalgunj and Biratnagar the seminars were held in the meeting halls of respective Chamber of Commerce and Industries. It was held in the training hall of Regional Education Office in Makwanpur. Each of the regional consultations were participated by about 150 distinguished people and representatives including the vice chancellors and registrars of the universities in the regions, the campus chiefs and the chairpersons of the campus management committees, campus teachers, HSEB regional office representatives, local social and political leaders, educationists, representatives of political parties in the regions, local chief security personnel, teacher unions, student unions, and staff unions, representatives of business and industry community, and social leaders, local government offices including DDC, RED, DEO, CDO, LDO, and so on. Each of the regional seminars was attended by about 150 people. After all the regional seminars, a consultation seminar was held on June 20in Kathmandu with different central level university teacher unions, student unions and administrative staff unions, representatives of the major political parties and representatives of national council of ethnic communities, national women commission, and Dalit commission.

The modality was to share the different concerns and issues as well as policy suggestions and get their feedback in the form of comments and suggestions. All the consultation seminars were chaired by Professor Ganeshman Gurung - UGC Chairman, and addressed by the UGC Member Secretary Mr. Bhola Nath Pokharel welcoming the participants, highlighting the process of preparing the policy framework, and explaining the workshop modality. The coordinators of the thematic groups, Mr. Purush Ratna Bajracharya, Prof. Mahendra Singh, Prof. Soorya Lal Amatya, Prof. Hridaya R. Bajracharya and Prof. Parthiveshwor Timalsena presented their theme papers for discussion. The participants wishing to present their views were provided with appropriate time. Their comments and suggestions are recorded. Many others submitted the written notes to be considered for reporting. The participating campus chiefs along with the support teams coordinated and facilitated the local preparatory work as well as the smooth conduction of the seminars. The organizing campuses also provided their faculty members from Nepali and English Departments to support the seminars as rapporteurs. The UGC staff conducted the workshops.

Policy draft is now being prepared based on the inputs and suggestions generated from the consultations. A national workshop will be held to finalize the draft. The UGC will soon finalize the draft and recommend it to MOE for government endorsement.

8.5.1 Brief Highlights of the Seminars

Quality and credibility stand out as the most important concerns pointed out in the consultation seminars. The discussion of quality focused on teacher qualification, student admission, regularity, full time attendance, performance in the examinations and most importantly the capability of the graduates in terms of knowledge and skill. The need for strict implementation academic calendar was another important point of discussion, it was pointed out that failure to stick to academic calendar, particularly delay in conducting examinations and results by several months have put many campuses in a very difficult situation of having to manage two batches of same level in parallel, e.g., old Bachelor first year and new Bachelor first year at the same time. The need for linking higher education with national needs and priorities and jobs was also pointed out. The participants expressed concerns that the most of current higher education development is taking place in terms of student enrolment, establishment of new institutions and program development in the streams of Education, Management and Humanities and liberal arts and social sciences. This means, there is need for skilled and entrepreneurial human resource in the areas of national priorities such as agriculture, entrepreneurship, energy and water resource management, tourism and hotel management, biodiversity and environment. HE needs to be relevant to employment and create more employment opportunities.

Another issue brought forth for discussion was the confusing extension of affiliations by universities to campuses; there should be clear-cut justifications for granting affiliations. It was pointed out that there was need for a policy to regulate affiliation on the basis of geographic region, priority programs, capacity of the affiliating university to support, supervise and monitor the affiliated institutions. Similarly, it was pointed out that in the contexts of WTO agreement foreign institutions are affiliating institution and programs in Nepal. They must be regulated to ensure their quality, support to higher education development, and the compliance with national norms.

The consultations indicated that a major thrust was necessary to redirect current trends of higher education development in the country to make them relevant to national issues and development priorities. It was felt necessary for overall reform in governance, organization structure, operation and management of higher education in the country. Norms and standards must be set for the establishment of new universities and institutions on the basis of locations and the programs they run. Most of the existing institutions face the challenges of keeping up with academic calendar, traditional curriculum, ritualistic teaching practices, and student examinations. There is a need for major reform focused to quality and relevance. There is also need to ensure that HEIs in the country meet norms and standards of good governance, teacher qualification, curriculum and teaching and learning practices, infrastructures and learning resources, student counseling and support, and research and development activities.

Ensuring equity was major concern discussed in the seminar. It was pointed out that there must be effective and adequate measures for ensuring equity in terms of gender and inclusion of ethnic minorities, dalits, economically deprived and regionally marginalized. Student support system including financial assistance must be developed. Access to higher education must be developed diversified to address different interest and aptitude. Provisions for open learning, distance learning must be developed. It is strongly felt necessary that public funding in higher education should be aligned to national priorities. It was pointed out that government funding support must be performance based with formula that takes different indicators of performance progress into account. There must be a system to regulate all higher education institutions, public as well private, based on fiscal norms with focus on management effectiveness, efficiency, and sustainability.

SECTION IX

ISSUES, CHALLENGES AND PROSPECTS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

9.1   Issues and Challenges

In Nepal, the demand for higher education has been growing rapidly, particularly since the 1990s. Accordingly, student enrolment at the tertiary level education is expanding, new universities have been established and every year numbers of their affiliated community managed as well as private campuses are increasing. In the process of development several issues have come up. The first issue relates to quality and credibility of higher education institutions, their programs and the graduates they are producing. The second crucial issue relates to relevance, relevance to country needs and priorities as well as to students' need to connect to the world of work and society including employment and/or economic activities and social interactions. The third issue relates to concerns for equity and inclusiveness of access to higher education. The fourth relates to regulating the management and operation of higher education institutions for effectiveness and efficiency as well as rationalization. The fifth issue relates to linking higher education provisions and development nationally as well as globally, ensuring mutual recognition of degrees, course equivalence and provisions of credit transfer. Most importantly the sixth issue relates to lessening priority of higher education in national budget allocation and program provisions. As the nation got overwhelmed with the need to address educational development at school level higher education remained sidelined creating a big gap in terms of national provisions and systemic inter-linkages between the two levels.

Nepal is now facing a number of significant challenges in addressing the issues. Ensuring quality is a big challenge because many institutions have developed and launched programs when there was no system of quality assurance, there is still a need for a system of norms and standards to regulate establishment and development of higher education institutions. Consequently, many institutions do not have adequate and appropriate infrastructures, adequate number of professionally competent teachers, and provisions/services as well as activities for students and faculties needed to insure satisfactory level of quality. It has been a big challenge for the government to increase budget allocation to higher education for addressing the quality improvement needs. There is a need for a comprehensive education sector development perspective and plan with well balanced proportion of budget provisions. Balanced growth across all levels of education is necessary to ensure healthy and sustainable development of education sector as a whole. Transitional political contexts of the country has been further augmenting the challenges as the activities of the unions of students, teachers and staff in collusion with the political parties in the country have often created situations with undesirable implications on academic programs as well as environment. Good governance and rationalized financing still remain major reform agenda because of the current challenging situation and also inadequate system capacity to address the issues and the challenges.

In view of the issues and the challenges there has been a growing realization among all stakeholders that the country needs a long term vision, forward looking policy, good planning and programs to transform the current higher education scenario making it more beneficial to all stakeholders including students, teachers, society and country.

9.2   Prospects of Higher Education

The UGC has been initiating the tasks of reform through the Second Higher Education Project (SHEP), preparing comprehensive higher education policy draft, and planning for further long term development. The SHEP has been in implementation since July 2007 with technical as well grant support of International Development Agency (IDA). It has been designed and implemented in line with the national objective of developing higher education system in Nepal which aims to produce professional human resource, with knowledge and technological base, capable of supporting economic growth and social reform towards building a prosperous, harmonious and knowledge based inclusive society. The project has four major components: Reform Grants, Student Financial Assistance, Enhancing Higher Secondary Education, and Strengthening System Capacity. It is supporting comprehensive activities for reform in higher education that include:

- reform in higher education institutions through performance grant, incentive grant and matching grant for resource mobilization initiatives,
- improvements in the teaching and learning with strengthened research capability,
- improvements in governance, management and financial sustainability,

- establishment and operation of a student financial assistance scheme, and
- establishment of Quality Assurance and Accreditation System (QAAS) and Higher Education Management Information system (HEMIS).

The UGC is planning for further activities and reform programs to facilitate expansion of professional and technical programs that are potential for economic development and job creation. It aims to develop measurable performance based public funding system that emphasize on quality, service, efficiency, social equity, professionalism, and cost effective management with participation of stakeholders. UGC is planning for an effective system of support and facilitation for expansion of technical and professional programs, regulation of general traditional programs to make them more relevant, beneficial and effective in terms of quality and efficiency. Similarly UGC intends to enhance practical and work oriented academic programs and activities with emphasis on grants support to experiment/application oriented lab based programs. The UGC has supported restructuring of SHEP with the provision of incentives for TU institutions, campuses and departments that launch market oriented technical/professional new window programs.

There is need and scope for opening new institutions and programs of technical education/applied science relevant to and needed for economic development. The UGC emphasizes development of new universities and other higher education institutions with this need in view. UGC is aware of the need to train or orient the staff including teaching and non-teaching staff in the higher education institutions. There is also need for institutionalized training provision and teacher support system. For undertaking challenges of development of such provisions there is need for good and capable human resource-- well trained, proactive and entrepreneurial.

Eventually, ICT need to be incorporated in the institutional management as well as in the teaching and learning process. This can be addressed through training and technical support. This area can be addressed best in collaboration with international institutions and with technical and funding support. There are also other areas of high importance where some reform efforts have already been initiated such as, performance based reform grants, QAA system establishment, student financial assistance fund development, EMIS system development, national teacher eligibility test. In order to consolidate the efforts into a comprehensive national higher education reform program there is need and scope for collaborations in drawing technical and funding support of different international development partners.

Most importantly, the UGC considers that there is need to address the dilemma of political issues affecting higher education organizations and institutions. This will be possible only through consensus in considering that higher education reform and development are of common interest and are highly important, and that the tasks should be supported by all stakeholders.

Addressing the issues and challenges of higher education require proper and careful procedures. There should be logical/rational approach to solving the issues of reform and development of higher education. University Grants Commission considers collaboration and cooperation with the stakeholders as the key strategy in addressing the issues and challenges.
